Spray Can Immaturity

One cannot help but feel sorry for the culprits who defaced the lemon in Lemon Grove one night last week.

With so many positive actions needed from young people in this time of universal peril, those who sprayed paint on the Lemon Grove landmark, showed nothing but immaturity. The same effort could have been used to aid an elderly person or a retarded child. Instead, they chose inanity.

It is not known who did it but those who were in on the caper took the trouble to contact most of the news media to encourage news coverage of their act. Newsmen who later contacted this writer were of the opinion that it was an act of stupidity. We agree with that definition.

This report is not offered here to further publicize the mischief. It's to make a contrast. We'll tell you how some good Lemon Grove people reacted to news of the disfigurement.

The perpetrators called radio KGB early Wednesday—which promptly aired the report.

The report was heard by Jim Garrity, quality control superintendent for C. H. Tripp Co., painting contractors of Sorrento Valley. Garrity lives at 3215 Harris st., in Lemon Grove. He immediately called the L.G. Chamber of Commerce and told Chamber President Bob Guest that he would paint the lemon back to its former condition.

So on Saturday, Garrity, with one of his associates, Robert Martinez, who lives on Alpert st. in Lemon Grove, together with some Harris st. neighbors, mixed the paint and applied it. When they finished the lemon looked wonderfully new and clean. The 25-or-so inane words which had been sprayed on it in black, had been completely obliterated.

Helping him, in addition to Martinez, were John Hughes and a Vietnamese youth, Lee Van Thuong, Harris st. neighbors.

"It's a shame to have spoilers in a community like this. Lemon Grove is such a nice place to live. Why would anyone want to deface its landmark?" said Garrity.

Martinez was a little more philosophical. "It gives me a chance to do something for Lemon Grove. I like it here... just like it is."

Hughes said he couldn't understand what purpose the mischief served. "But I'm glad Jim (Garrity) asked me to help." Lee Van Thuong speaks little English but he was busy covering up the black words with opaque paint.

Garrity estimated that the repaint job would cost $200 if it had been a conventional contract. "But almost anybody who likes where he lives would do as much."

Suppose these rascals return and spray the lemon again? "If they do it again, we'll paint it again. That's how much we like the nice things Lemon Grove has going for it."

And there you have the contrast. People who like their community repairing the damage by people who apparently do not.

Plus one other observation: You can meet awfully nice people in time of adversity.

Ronald Reagan Says:

"We have tried to apply common sense to our pollution problems. I have said before, there are three kinds of pollution today: real, hysterical and political. To listen to some, you would think we will soon be standing shoulder to shoulder in the tiny center parkway of a giant freeway."

You could take the entire population of the United States and put it in the land area of only two states—California and Texas—and you could still have a population density lower than that of most of Western Europe.

Now, this does not mean we should not be concerned about the environment or that we can go on with practices that lead to pollution—the real kind.

'Peoples' Fair' to Kick-off 'Community School' Concept

Saturday is "Come to the Fair Day" for Lemon Grove residents.

Specifically, it's the "Peoples' Fair" and it will be held at the Monterey Heights Elementary School, 7550 Canton dr., Lemon Grove 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

The Peoples' Fair, according to Barry Bernisconi, chairman of the project, will kickoff "Community School," a new concept in public use of public schools.

Bernisconi, who is a social worker for the Child Protective Services of San Diego County, said Saturday would be a fun day with music by the L.G. Junior High School band; concession stands offering hot dogs for 35 cents; homemade ice cream for 15 cents a cone, and snow cones. The school will run the hot-dog stand; Heartland Youth Services will make and sell the ice cream cones and the M.H. PTA will handle snow cones.

Donna Beckley, a County Parks and Recreation Department specialist in charge of the Community school project, will oversee games for young and old.

Peoples' Fair will be the first activity under the new policy in the Lemon Grove School District, Bernisconi said. Beginning next week the Monterey Heights school will be open for whatever social, educational or recreational programs and projects residents wish to use it for. Programs to encourage the school's use as much as 24 hours a day, seven days a week are possible.

Seniors, and taxpayers without children are encouraged to put the school to use. The school is primarily for the use of, but not restricted to residents of Monterey Heights.

At least one other school—Golden Avenue Elementary—will have a similar program.

The entire program is under the canopy of a L.G. School District-funded "Community School" concept.

Those who wish to discuss programs or policy should call Donna Beckley at the M.H. Community School, 469-0159. Full operational information is also available Saturday at the Peoples' Fair.

Backyard Burglarized

Welding equipment, chain saw, wrench, cutting device, pipe threading tool and various tools were taken from the rear yard of Terry T. Doi, a nurseryman of 2895 Massachusetts ave., in Lemon Grove on January 3.

Doi said the loss occurred while he was home watching television sometime after 10 p.m.

The replacement value of the stolen items is $890, he told Sheriff's deputies.

CLEANUP — Jim Garrity, right, supervises repainting the defaced Lemon Grove landmark with the aid of Lee Van Thuong, left and Robert Martinez, center. Vandals spray-painted it one night last week. Garrity, an executive with a Sorrento Valley painting firm, volunteered to do the repaint job without cost. All three men live in Lemon Grove. Variance Hearing Friday 10 A.M.

Lumber Yard Opposition Grows

The request for a lumber yard variance on Main st., postponed from January 9, will be heard Friday at 10 a.m. in room 310 of the County Administration bldg.

The request for the variance is by Ron Dubois for Accent Cedar and Redwood, and is for an increase in fence height together with a front yard setback on Main st. near North ave., in varying distances of 25 feet to 60 feet from the centerline of Main. Present local requirement is 75 feet.

There is local opposition to the variance. A Chamber of Commerce committee has asked the Chamber board to oppose the variance for several reasons.

1. It is in opposition to zoning established by the Lemon Grove Planning Assn., it was said.

2. It puts front yard within a couple of feet of the edge of the Main st. roadway paving.

3. It converts that portion of Main st. to a lumber moving area for the firm's moving equipment.

4. High-stacked lumber creates a traffic distraction at the new Lemon Grove off-ramp from 94—the front door to Lemon Grove.

The area coming up for variance is owned by the San Diego and Arizona Eastern Railroad and was leased to the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce. The entire strip, from North, south to Pacific, has been kept up by local interests. Recently, SD&AE officials removed the area for which the variance is wanted from the master lease.

Interest is high in the proposed variance and a large turnout of Lemon Grove business and professional people are expected to attend the hearing to oppose granting the setback.

Budget Cutbacks May Cost Sheriff 100 Men This Year

Crime continues to skyrocket in the county while the County Board of Supervisors feuds with the Sheriff over his budget.

At a hurriedly-called press conference Monday, Sheriff John Duffy reacted to a memo issued Friday afternoon by County Chief Administrative Officer David Speer which directed Duffy to cut back about $800,000 the Sheriff's Department will have overspent by June 30.

Duffy claims that mandated service and failure of the supervisors to collect an amount representing about half of the total deficit for law enforcement given to Del Mar, Vista and San Marcos is responsible.

He noted that funds taken from his department at the beginning of the year amounted to a reduction in force of about 35 officers.

Failure to provide all of the funds through a budgeting readjustment, reduced the force by funds equivalent to the cost of about 30 officers.

Another Slash

Tuesday, Supervisors deferred until March 1 another slash. This one would be for $367,000 and is predicated on the decision of the three north county cities. If they reject contracting for law enforcement supplied by the Sheriff, then on March 1 Duffy's budget would be cut by $367,000. It equates to 38 officers.

County staff was instructed to prepare a plan calling for a hiring freeze or for a lay off of 38 deputies after March 1 if the three cities did not contract for law enforcement by the Sheriff's Department.

According to figures given there would be 103 fewer deputies after March 1 than there were on June 30.

The three north county cities had contracted with the county for protection by the Sheriff's Department last year but balked when the bill was hiked by the County. A dispute has been in progress for 5 months.

LG School Can Service Rancho Valle Homes

Lemon Grove School officials last week granted Dick Con Corp. a letter of assurance that elementary and junior high school space would be available for their proposed Rancho Valle subdivision.

Plans call for up to 70 two-, three- and four bedroom units to be built on a 14.5 acre site located in Broadway Heights, an area west of the 69th street, City of San Diego border. Though the land is annexed to the city, it is served by Lemon Grove elementary and Grossmont Union High School District has also granted a letter of assurance to the developers.

Board Hedges

The Lemon Grove Board of Trustees delayed action on the letter at a November meeting. Concern was raised at the time for the lack of adequate walkway facilities for school children. The developer has assured the district that sidewalks leading to 69th street from the subdivision would be maintained.

In recommending the letter of assurance, school Superintendent Robert Sutton told board members that San Miguel school probably would accommodate the anticipated influx of school children, although it would mean some class shuffling. Two special education programs serving the entire district would have to be shifted from San Miguel to other available classrooms in the district, he said. This would cause no additional transportation problem for the students involved, he said, because they are all transported by school bus anyway.

Present at the meeting were the developers of Rancho

SV Woman Dies In Mobile Home Bedroom Fire

A Spring Valley woman died Thursday in a mobile home fire, apparently started by a candle left burning in her bedroom.

A neighbor spotted Michelle Anne Taylor, 29, returning to her home in the Lamplighter Trailer Park on Jamacha blvd. at 2 a.m., according to Spring Valley Fire Marshal Orville Williamson.

Michelle lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Taylor who were aroused by a crash, possibly caused by an exploding aerosol can. They were asleep in an adjacent bedroom.

They opened the door to their daughter's room and found the edge of a mattress and a wall panel in flames. Mr. Taylor suffered second degree burns trying to extinguish the fire and remove his daughter from the room, Williamson said.

The coroner pronounced her dead at the scene.

Damages, estimated at $500, were confined to the bedroom area.

Graveside services were held Monday in El Cajon Cemetery. El Cajon Mortuary handled arrangements.

Miss Taylor, a lifetime county resident, was last employed as a waitress for the MCRD Officers Club.

Survivors include her parents and two sisters.

Public Hearing Date on Cityhood Still Uncertain

The next step in Lemon Grove's proposed incorporation will be a public hearing before the County Board of Supervisors.

The date of the hearing depends on when a report can be made by the County's Intergovernmental Affairs office.

According to Charlotte Langley, executive assistant of the office, the report is waiting for production of an official legal description of the area after which the assessed valuation of the property within the boundaries will be figured so as to establish a tax rate.

Langley said the report would probably go to the supervisors late in February.

The Board of Supervisors will call the public hearing shortly thereafter.

Dell Lake, chairman of the Committee for Incorporation, has set July 4 for the forming of the City of Lemon Grove if the election is successful.

The county will supply all services for the remainder of the fiscal year in which a city is formed. That would give the new city a chance to stockpile a year of income without having to pay the service bills.

L.G. Group Eyes Plan Revision

The Lemon Grove Planning Assn. has called a "very important" meeting for January 29 at 7:30 p.m. at the Golden Ave. Elementary school, it was announced by Bob Holaday, chairman.

On the agenda is a presentation by County staff of a proposed revision to the Lemon Grove Plan that may be necessary for implementation of the plan.

The change, said Holaday, will amount to a fraction of a home an acre.

Another change is in the name of commercial and manufacturing zoning. Planning will not change but such designations as highway, regular, office and professional zoning will be dropped in favor of commercial of manufacturing—whichever is appropriate to the land use.

Holaday said the revision could affect as much as 90 per cent of the planning area. The meeting is "very important" to the Association, he said. Members, and the public, should attend to learn why a revision is necessary and what the alternatives are.

AFS Launches Host Family Search

A ten-month "experience" in international relations without leaving town — that's what American Field Service (AFS) International Scholarships are offering local families.

AFS Chapters at Mt. Miguel and Monte Vista high schools are searching for families that will host an overseas student for the coming school year. The youngster will live with the family and attend classes at Mt. Miguel or Monte Vista.

Main requirement for an AFS host family is the parents' interest in young people.

AFS International Headquarters in New York City carefully screens candidates who apply for a year's stay in the United States. Students come from more than 60 countries. There are over 2,500 students from abroad currently living and studying in America this year.

"The AFS program can be beneficial to the student and to the host family," said Joan Kelso, spokesman for the local AFS chapter. "A family may acquire new perspectives about another culture, experience the fun of a new and continuing friendship and help a student discover the life of a community and a nation."

Aside from food costs and some small incidental expenses the host family incurs no debt in hosting a student. The local Chapter raises an annual fee which — when supplemented by whatever contributions the student can afford — covers AFS program expenses.

The organization makes sure host families will not have to pay medical bills for students. As a matter of policy, AFS extends medical coverage to its students.

AFS also extends a monthly allowance to the student to cover incidental personal expenses.

Host families may take a monthly income tax deduction in accordance with an IRS provision.

Families interested in participating in the AFS program should call local chapter hosts Lillian Collette, Mt. Miguel, 466-9087, or Joan Kelso, Monte Vista, 461-8894.

S.V. Exchange Student To Live in South Africa

Eric Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Nelson, 3502 Bentley dr., Spring Valley left town January 21 for South Africa where he will live for a year as an exchange student through the American Field Service program.

A junior at Mount Miguel High School, he will live with a family of 4 as a member of their family and attend school there. The family lives at Somerset East in Cape Province, South Africa, a city with a population of about 12,000. The father of this new family is a wool buyer who works for a wool export company.

While living in Africa, Nelson will attend school at Gill College, which is a Medium School, similar to our high schools. The schools there operate on a year round basis of 4 semesters with short vacation periods between semesters.

Nelson is an outstanding student and participates in music and sports activities. He is a member of the High School Band and Orchestra, plays on the soccer team and competes in cross-country events. He was selected in October to represent Mount Miguel and will be the first student sponsored by Mt. Miguel in 7 years. He is the first student from the Grossmont District to go to South Africa.

This Week's RECIPE

Give Up on Winter: Have a Cookout

Since it's apparent that Old Man Winter has overlooked us this year, we may as well pull the hibachi out of the garage, stoke up the charcoal and have ourselves a summer cookout. You'll need two wide spatulas for this big burger. Serve it grandly on the bottom half of a round loaf of french bread spread with savory butter and lightly toasted.

Keep one eye on the sky as you pass the ketchup, however. We're due for some rain.

GIANT OPEN FACE HAMBURGER

2 pounds lean ground beef
¼ cup half and half
2 teas. seasoned salt

½ teas. pepper
¼ cup finely chopped green onion
Finely chopped parsley
1 nine-inch round loaf
French bread
¼ cup butter

Mix beef with half and half, salt, pepper, onion and two tablespoons parsley. Shape into 9-inch patty. Grill over hot coals to desired degree of doneness.

Meanwhile, split bread crosswise and spread with butter and chopped parsley. Toast lightly on grill.

Place burger over bottom half of loaf. Garnish as desired with cheese, cucumber slices, skewered tomatoes and ripe olives. Cut into wedges. Cut top loaf in wedges and serve as accompaniment. Makes six servings.

For added spiciness, blend into the butter 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder and 1/8 teaspoon dill weed.

New Programs Added By National University

Unprecedented public response to the Winter quarter programs at National University has necessitated the scheduling of three additional degree programs, college officials announced.

Initial response to the first phase of the January-February enrollment at the Mission Valley-based school has resulted in a new enrollment of nearly 400 students in eight Masters, Bachelors, and Associate degree programs.

In addition to these initial programs, two more Bachelor programs in business administration and one Associate program were added for the February enrollment.

E. County Red Cross Pushes C.P.R. Class

As part of a nation-wide life-saving effort, the American Red Cross is encouraging individuals and organizations to participate in a Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (C.P.R.) program.

The technique is a combination of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation with external heart compression.

Efforts are underway to set up C.P.R. classes in the county through clubs and organizations. Businesses, social and service organizations are urged to arrange for the classes taught by a Red Cross C.P.R. instructor. Classes are 8 to 10 hours and can be scheduled as an all-day session on two half-day sessions.

Target of the classes is prevention of some of the more than 600,000 deaths which occur annually from heart attack. In addition, thousands of persons whose lives might have been saved through C.P.R., die each year from such tragedies as drowning, electrical shock and drug overdose.

The East County Service Center can be reached at 463-8881.

After the winter quarter enrollments are finalized, National University will approach the top 10 in total enrollment of all non-governmental colleges and universities in the state of California, according to Harold C. Wells, Ed. D., Dean of Students.

The college also announced a new concept in college counseling and information services with a mobile admissions office.

The mobile office was donated by National University's alumni association and the Mission Valley Truck Sales.

The office is equipped to provide prospective students with information regarding National's intensive educational programs. On-site enrollment services are also provided.

The office will be at Grossmont Shopping Center 10:30-3:30 Monday and Tuesday.

I-805, Otay Mesa Highway Opened

A new one-mile section of Route 75 has been opened, from Interstate 805 to Otay Mesa rd. near San Ysidro, according to CALTRANS.

Jacob Dekema, CALTRANS District Director, said the new section gives motorists direct access between Brown Field Air Station and Interstate 805. "In about two months," Dekema said, "the remaining portion of Route 75 between I-5 and I-805 will be completed."

Route 75 is an east-west, four-lane freeway extending from I-5 to Otay Mesa rd. The $6.3 million project has local interchanges at Beyer and Picador blvds. Bridges, allowing north-south passage beneath the freeway, are located at Del Sur blvd. and Howard ln. Also, a bridge over the SD&AE railroad is planned.

Free Boating Class Taught In E. County

A free boating course for teenagers and adults will soon be offered locally by the United States Power Squadron. USPS volunteers teach the courses at adult school facilities.

The Helix Power Squadron will offer the 10-lesson course at three east county locations beginning later this month.

Classes are offered Mondays beginning January 26 and Thursdays beginning the 29th at El Cajon High School. Helix High offers a Wednesday class commencing January 28. San Diego's Patrick Henry High holds the class Tuesdays beginning on the 27th.

All classes begin at 7 p.m. The boating course provides information on handling the boat under normal and adverse conditions, seamanship and common emergencies, rules of the road and compass and chart familiarization.

Also discussed are navigational aids, equipment, mariner's compass and piloting and inland boating.

Helix Offers Fiddle Class

A new class, "A Creative Approach To Country Fiddling As An American Folk Art" will be offered this semester at Helix Adult School, starting Wednesday.

The class, for all violinists interested in learning how to play fiddle tunes, will feature demonstrations and workshops on the art of bowing, sliding, chords, improvisations, and more.

Beginners and advanced players are welcome, but each student must provide his own violin. Classes are each Wednesday 6:30-9:30, room 610, Helix High School, 7323 University ave., in La Mesa.

Meadowlark, Curly, and Harlem Globetrotters Here For Arena Twin Bill Sunday

The world's most famous sports team, the Harlem Globetrotters, will be in San Diego Sunday for two appearances — the first at 2 p.m. and the second at 7.

Proceeds from both appearances will go to Sigma Delta Chi, the society of professional journalists for the society's scholarship fund.

Celebrating their Golden Anniversary season, the Trotters have earned the reputation as the world's greatest family entertainment. Four generations have laughed and marveled at their special combination of basketball skills and court comedy.

Once again leading the Trotters into action against the New Jersey Reds will be player-coach Meadowlark Lemon, better known as the Clown Prince of basketball. He will have his old sidekick, Freddie "Curly" Neal, with him again. Between them they usually provide enough laughs to have the fans holding their sides.

The Trotters will present another outstanding variety show, too, before the games and at halftime. Robert Ashley and Craig Aurelio, rated among the world's best table tennis players, will appear with the Rebounders, trampoline performers, and Salvador Murillo and Ulises Reyes, who are masters of the age old art of balancing.

Ashley is the professional table tennis champion of the U. S., while his 18-year-old rival is the youngest ever to win the Italian championship. The pair combines championship play with a comedic approach to their sport that has delighted Trotter fans everywhere.

Nearly 3,000,000 watched the Trotters put on their laugh-a-minute performances during the 1974-75 season for a record but attendance for the new season promises to set another mark.

Tickets can be purchased at the Sports Arena box office, selling for $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50.

10 Diamond All-Stars In American Golf Classic

PALM SPRINGS — More than half of the baseball All-Star team from both leagues — 10 players — will perform in the 10th American Airlines Golf Classic January 30-February 1 at Canyon Hotel Racquet and Golf Club, announced tournament chairman Tom Ross Jr.

The All-Stars, as chosen by major league players, include Johnny Bench, Cincinnati Reds; Steve Garvey, Los Angeles Dodgers; Thurman Munson, New York Yankees; Graig Nettles; New York Yankees; Reggie Jackson, Oakland Athletics; Jim Palmer, Baltimore Orioles; Jim Kaat, formerly with Chicago White Sox and now with the Philadelphia Phillies; Bill Madlock, Chicago Cubs; Greg Luzinski, Philadelphia Phillies, and Randy Jones, San Diego Padres.

First Prize — $1,000
These stellar athletes will be among 64 who'll compete in this 54-hole football-baseball best ball tournament. First prize is $10,000.

They join an outstanding roster which includes John Unitas, Joe DiMaggio, Otto Graham, Yogi Berra, Buddy Bell, home run king Mike Schmidt, Brooks Robinson, Del Unser, Jeff Burroughs, Jim Wynn, Ken Anderson, Lem Barney, James Harris, Joe Ferguson, Jim Hart, Bert Jones, Ed Marinaro, Craig Morton, Dan Pastorini, Ed Podolak, Bob Tucker, Richie Zisk, Fred Biletnikoff, Bobby Douglass and ex-Charger Deacon Jones.

Daily tickets are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 16. Proceeds go to the United Way of The Desert.

Tom Hamilton, Bob Skinner Tapped for Hall of Fame

Two distinguished athletic careers will be capped when Rear Adm. Thomas J. Hamilton, USN (Ret) and Bob Skinner are admitted to San Diego's Sports Hall of Fame as one of the features at the 30th annual Banquet of Champions Monday night, February 2, at Vacation Village.

They'll be joining the exclusive ranks of 40 other great men and women athletes previously voted into the Hall of Fame for distinguishing themselves in the national and international sports scene.

La Jolla Hamilton, an All-American halfback and triple threat for the Naval Academy in 1926 where he also lettered in baseball and basketball, was chosen from among senior candidates, while Skinner topped the voting for current nominees.

San Diegans became familiar with Hamilton's football skills in the early 1930s when he was player-coach of the awesome West Coast Navy teams based here. For three consecutive years he led his squad to the All-Service championship in campaigns during which they also defeated some of the better western collegiate teams.

Naval Academy Coach
Hamilton's success with the San Diego Navy team prompted his being named Naval Academy coach, and he held that post from 1934-37 and again in 1946 and 1947, after which he became athletic director for the Midshipmen. In 1949 he began a 10-year term as athletic director at Pittsburgh, and then the Pacific Eight acquired him as its commissioner, a position he held until his retirement in 1971.

In 1965 he was elected to the National Football Hall of Fame, in 1970 he became the 14th winner of the prized National Football Foundation Gold Medal Award, and the National Collegiate Athletic Association recently made him the 1975 recipient of the Theodore Roosevelt Award, placing him in such company as Presidents Eisenhower and Ford, Justice Bryon White, General of the Army Omar Bradley and Jesse Owens.

25 Years for Skinner
Skinner, a native son who has been identified with professional baseball for 25 years, has been an outstanding performer since the days he played for La Jolla High in the late 1940s, starring as an outfielder and first baseman.

After a year at San Diego City College he signed with Pittsburgh in 1951, divided the season between Waco in the Big State League and Mayfield in the Kitty League, then was inducted into the Marine Corps. A civilian again in 1954, he was invited to the Pirate spring camp, acquired a regular position with the team and hit .249 while clouting nine homers and driving in 50 runs.

Farmed out to New Orleans in 1955, he responded by posting a .346 average, second best in the Southern Association, and that brought him back to the Pittsburgh club where he remained until 1963 when he was traded to Cincinnati.

On All Star Teams
During his long stay with the Pirates he helped them win the 1960 World Series over the New York Yankees, and on three occasions, 1958, 1960 and 1962, he was picked for the National League All-Star team. In 1958 when he batted .321 he played in the All-Star outfield with Willie Mays and Henry Aaron.

Skinner wound up his major league playing days with the St. Louis Cards and figured in their defeat of the Yankees in the 1964 World Series. There were four seasons during which he topped the .300 figure at the plate.

Subsequently, he managed his home town San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League in 1967, guided them to the championship and was named minor league manager of the year.

Philly Manager
Midway in 1968 Philadelphia named him manager of its National League club, a position from which he resigned in August 1969. In 1969 he re-joined the Padres, now a major league team and remained through 1973 as a coach specializing in batting instructions.

Since then he has been with the Pittsburgh coaching staff and has helped the Pirates to two divisional pennants.

Still a full-time San Diego resident, Skinner and his wife are the parents of four sons, and during the off-season the new Hall of Famer helps conduct a baseball school here.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

It's the little things in life that sneak up and remind you you're getting old. Like realizing the good looking chick sitting alone at the end of the bar is young enough to be your daughter, or remembering how it was when George Blanda broke INTO professional football.

The real clincher is, however, your resistance to change. Here it is, a month into the new year and how many of us still write "1975?"

Guilty, here, your Honor. I'm slow on the up-take, and two steps behind the down-beat. And change for me is harder to grab hold of than workin' stiffs getting a fair shake from politicians.

If it's new with me, it just don't seem to catch on. Like all those New Year's resolutions. I busted every one save the throw in where I promised to "stay out of Mexico."

All the rest faded away like the promises of the City Council. Things like "Don't drink before 9 a.m.; never bet with the bartender; lose weight; quit buying things without checking with my wife; don't borrow or lend money while out drinking with the boys; don't drink with the girls; never lie to the tax man or about my golf score and when writing sports, do not go into labor, management or law. They all fell through for one reason or another.

Some never had a chance. Even the daily paper biggies can't keep labor, management and law out of sports. In fact, business, contracts and litigation are getting new treatment in journalism schools across the country. Just as if they knew what they were doing.

Even football players are looking over such subjects. Those who go to class, anyhow. And some schools still require that.

The "don't drink before 9 a.m." went New Year's Day, mostly because of what happened on New Year's Eve. I always heard that a little flat beer did wonders for a champagne headache. I try it every year. It never works.

The Super Bowl reminded me that I vowed never to bet with bartenders. That wasn't exactly a New Year's resolution. I made that promise to myself during the American League playoffs, the National League playoffs, the World Series and the NFL playoffs. In fact, I make that promise to myself every time I lose. And who, but a bartender, could better pick the time to talk you into taking Dallas and giving up six points?

And I went and borrowed the betting wherewithal from a drinking buddy who stands 6-feet, 5-inches, weighs 257 pounds and works behind a badge. I gave him Pittsburgh and six, too.

What else could I do when he caught me sharing a Happy Hour with his old lady. She's a free thinker, but him? Who wants to find out?

Now, I never lie to the tax people. I hire an expert to do that. Work out my taxes, I mean. Besides, only a dope who would borrow money from a cop, bet on Dallas, give the Steelers six points, drink out in public with his old lady, and get caught would do a thing like . . . need I go on?

To be my year, 1976 will have to be redesignated as the year of the loser. Hell, I still expect the Padres to win the pennant.

The only thing I don't lose is weight. I've even been known to gain a few pounds while on a starvation diet. I find calories in water.

Losing weight is something I don't do at all well, but trying? There I'm an old hand. I go on a diet every Monday morning. Only trouble is, sometimes they don't last till noon. Can I help it if I never met a meal I didn't like?

The last resolution to go was the one that had to do with fibbin' about my golf score. I told a down and out lie. I claimed a 45 stroke handicap.

The folks at the Sportswriters/Sportscasters Association are holding a golf shindig at Carlton Oaks Jan. 30 for jocks, supporters and the writin' and microphone bunch. John DeMott (286-1240) and Ron Reina (232-2114) are setting it up. If you want to play, give either a call and sign up.

It costs $25 and that covers green fees, golf carts and dinner. Anything left over will go into the SSA journalism scholarship fund.

There'll be Chargers, Padres and Mariners there, of course. And me. Even if they didn't allow my handicap. They ask me how I could lie like that, but I just point to my gray hair and tell them, "It's gettin' so I just don't remember." You know, gettin' old ain't all that bad.

Geiberger, Mahaffey Join AWSDO Top Golfers List

Al Geiberger and John Mahaffey ranked sixth and eighth in 1975 earnings, head a list of golfers who signed the latest commitment sheet for the February 11-15 Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament.

Earlier this month sportswriters named Geiberger

16 YEARS — Al Geiberger, marks his 16th year on tour—his best, too—by signing for the AWSDO tournament. He won the Tournament of Champions in 1975 and ranked sixth during the year with winnings of $175,693.

"Comeback Player of the Year" and feted him at La Costa.

Other exempt pros on the list sent to tournament chairman Hal Tebbetts included Leonard Thompson, Jim Simons, and John Schlee, ranked 48, 50, and 56 respectively on the money list; former U.S. and British Open champion Tony Jacklin, former PGA champion Jim Ferrier, and La Jolla's John Schroeder, who finished among the top 25 in last year's AWSDO.

Geiberger, a 39-year-old veteran campaigner in his 17th season on tour, had the best year of his career in 1975, winning the Tournament Players Division Championships and the Tournament of Champions on his way to annual earnings of $175,693.

Although in the top 20 from 1962 through 1967 and the winner of six other tournaments, Geiberger never had won more than $65,000 in a single season until 1974 when he pocketed $91,628. He won the PGA in 1966 and was runner-up to Tom Weiskopf in the first AWSDO in 1968.

Mahaffey Winnings High
Mahaffey, 27, entered the top 10 ranking for the first time last year, earning $141,471 without winning a single tour event. He had second places, however, in the U.S., Tucson and Memphis Opens and was co-runner-up in the Kemper. Additionally, he had six other finishes in the first ten. His only career tour win was the 1973 Sahara Invitational.

Other prominent pros entered on the commitment sheet include Jim Jamieson, Dale Douglass, Bob Shaw, Labron Harris, Bobby Wadkins, Babe Hickey, Mike Reaser and two San Diego County contenders, Cesar Sanudo of El Cajon and Lon Hinkle of Santee.

Mariners Host Toronto in Arena Saturday Game

San Diego Mariner coach Ron Ingram has most of his squad healthy and a look at the team's WHA schedule shows he'll need all the manpower he can muster.

The Mariners host Toronto, Saturday, in a 7:30 Sports Arena contest. Sandwiched around that game are road meetings at Minnesota, Friday, and a Sunday afternoon encounter at Phoenix.

Ingram was encouraged with the return of defenseman Bob Wall and winger Brian Morenz last week should get further satisfaction over the announcement that winger-captain Norm Ferguson is ready after being off one game with a bruised knee.

Pony League Sign-Up Dates Given

Sky Grove Pony League registration will be held at Knapp Field in Monterey Heights for baseball players ages 13 and 14, according to Jim Minnocci, Sky Grove League president.

Registration dates are January 31, February 7 and 14.

Each player must bring his birth certificate, he said.

Minnocci may be reached at 461-4043.

Pole Vault Champ Here for Games

Dan Ripley, the man who vaulted from virtual obscurity into international prominence last year, will continue his march to Montreal in the 10th annual Jack-In-The-Box Indoor Games Saturday night, February 21, at the San Diego Sports Arena.

The burly Ripley spanned 18 ft. 1 1/4 in. to kick off the 1976 indoor season at College Park, Md. and broke his own world indoor pole vault record of 18-1 set in the Sunkist Invitational at L.A. in 1975.

Another highlight of the S.D. Indoor Games will be New Zealand's John Walker in the mile.

Walker became the first man to duck under 3:50 when he clocked 3:49.4 for the mile at Goteburg, Sweden last summer.

Valle, Dick Tuthill and partner Glenn Napier, who reviewed their plans for board members.

Ethnic Balance

A delicate discussion ensued on racial balance in the San Miguel neighborhood. School officials and community members allege that the ethnic mix in the area is well balanced, meaning proportional to county population percentages.

Tuthill told the board that Dick Con subscribes to an affirmative action marketing code as set down by the San Diego Building Contractors Assn. The plan pledges a commitment to ethnic balance while maintaining an open market, Tuthill said.

He explained that he hoped to maintain the balance through media advertising efforts.

Sutton called Tuthill's marketing plan a "good faith effort to maintain local racial balance," but pointed out that it is not something that is legally enforceable. He also advised that a heavy impact of minority students at one school in the district could lead to segregation litigation.

Less than 2 Years

Dick Con hopes to have the homes sold and occupied in less than two years. The developers are awaiting approval of R-1.5 zoning from the County Planning Commission which would permit them to build their minimum 5,000 sq. ft. lots, the average size estimated at 5,500 sq. ft.

Present plans call for no more than 70 units—less than 10 two-bedroom homes and an even mix of three- and four-bedroom units.

Pledged to "affordable housing," Tuthill said that Rancho Valle homes would be in the $33,000 to $40,000 range. Average home price in the area today is $42,000, he said.

Neighbors' Battle Plan

Still active are a group of surrounding residents who vow that the plans for the subdivision will never get off the drawing table.

Verna Quinn, president of the Broadway Heights Community Council, said that petitions are making the rounds and that the group plans to appeal the preliminary environmental impact study which determined that the development would create no serious physical harm.

The group still hopes to preserve the land as a natural park.

Spring Valley Is Hot Spot

Spring Valley was the warmest spot in the nation on Wednesday last week. Assistant Chief Stanley W. Mourning recorded a temperature of 84 degrees at 1:30 p.m. at the Spring Valley Fire Station, 905 Gillespie dr.

Spring Valley shared the high with Long Beach as unusual Santa Ana conditions prevailed continuing a most arid "rainy season" here

Teen-Dance in El Cajon Planned

Man's Loss is $600

While Robert Edward Townsend was away from his home at 3868 Spring ar., Spring Valley on January 3, a burglar tried to kick in the back door. Failing to do this the intruder broke the glass part of the door, unlocked it and took away $600 worth of his belongings.

Included in the loss were three tape recorders, an electric typewriter, binoculars, a compass, camera and a Buck knife, he reported to Sheriff's deputies.

LEMON GROVE AVENUE became Lemon Grove's central access to Highway 94 this week. The new street which links Imperial ave. with on- and off-ramps to the freeway opened to traffic at noon, Monday, according to site engineer Jack Cramer.

Cramer reported no accidents occurred on the street or ramp network during the first 24 hours of operation. "We can't verify whether that is a record," he said.

YMCA Plans Arizona Caravan for Skiers

The Copley YMCA is sponsoring a Snow Caravan to Mt. Lemmon Ski Resort, Arizona February 13-16. The ski, snow play and fellowship caravan is open to junior high, senior high and college age youth.

The trip price $40 covers bus transportation, food and lodging.

Reservations are now being taken at the Copley Y, 283-2251.

3 Here Join S.D. Reserves

Three area residents received certificates at the 30th San Diego Police Department Reserve Class graduation ceremonies last week.

Derryl E. Stephenson of Lemon Grove and David T. Law and Glenn McAllister of Spring Valley were part of the 56-man class in the Silver Room of the Community Concourse.

The men have completed 240 hours of classroom work in such subjects as criminal law, search and seizure, community and race relations, traffic control and first aid. They are required to serve at least 120 hours yearly.

Reserve Officers assist the Department personnel without pay. They work as second men in patrol cars, direct traffic during parades or other large gatherings, operate the Ride-Along Program, and assist in emergency situations.

GUHSD Gets $14,700 To Teach Refugees

Grossmont Union High School District will receive $14,700 to help school Southeast Asian refugees who have relocated into the district.

Special bilingual instructional tutors have been approved by the school board for Helix and El Cajon high school to provide language and cultural instruction to the 49 refugees in the district.

The money, $300 per each child, also pays for special instructional materials and in-service training for teachers.

E. County Clinic Plans Preventive Health Talks

Preventive medicine is the focus of a new year of health education workshops planned for coming weeks by the East County Community Clinic.

The schedule:

Friday, "What is Health?" Stewart Frank, M.D.; January 30, "Psychosomatic Illness," Gene Essert, M.D.; February 6, "Meditating for Health," George Mahan, M.D.; February 13, "Touch for Health," Juliette Mondot; February 20, "Nutrition and Physical Fitness," Ernie Neveu.

John Ortman Opens Campaign Central

John Ortman, Second Supervisorial District candidate, has opened his campaign headquarters this week.

It is located at 439 W. Douglas st., in El Cajon.

Ortman, owner of the Farrell's Ice Cream Parlour Restaurants in the county said, "Although we are opening a headquarters, my neighborhood grass roots campaign will still be taken directly to the people. I'll try to knock on every door in the district before the campaign is over. I think my goal of fiscal responsibility is a goal shared by all responsible people."

'Dump' Plans Fail to Impress Jamul People

The county calls it a landfill. Residents call it a garbage dump.

Residents in Jamul are upset about plans to use a 250-acre site for disposing of solid waste from parts of Spring Valley, Lemon Grove, La Mesa and the City of San Diego.

Spokesmen from Jamul argued against the proposal at a recent public hearing, stating that the "dump" would mean an esthetically unbecome addition to the Jamul area and a depletion of the school's tax base.

The County's Chief Project Engineer Joe Remle said that the site, south of Rt. 94 and east of Steele Canyon rd., is planned for use by 1977. Portions will be screened and landscaped as they are filled, he said.

Residents at the hearing also expressed concern for garbage dumped on streets while being transported to the site, additional traffic congestion on the single-lane highway and possible contamination of wells, source of water for several homes in Jamul.

The community has organized the "Jamul Community Club" and the "94 Club" for residents living along Rt. 94 to amass sentiment for such projects.

One resident at the hearing was alleged to have said that, after years of neglect, the county was finally giving them something — the city's garbage.

Burglar's Cache Found in Field

John Steven Hobbs, 22, of Poway, found a cache of valuables in a field in Proctor Valley while he was seeking a place to do some target practice.

The items, covered by cardboard included a portable Hitachi teevee and a Philco stereomatic digital clock. Other items;

Sylvania speakers
Sylvania stereo receiver
Philco AM-FM radio
Jig saw
Circular saw
Power wrench
Sylvania portable cover teevee, 12"

Tape decks and clocks.
Pillowcase containing various items of jewelry.

The items were lodged in a safe at the Lemon Grove office of the Sheriff.

VFW Teen-Dance On February 27

Door prize winners at the January Teen-Dance sponsored by the Lemon Grove V.F.W. Post 2082 were: Charleen Miller, Ace Drive In passes; Kevin Coupled, two dinners at Pal's Cafe, and Tony Swift, winner of the $25 Savings Bond — his second. The bond was donated by Jack Martin.

A Teen-Dance committee meeting will be held tonight at the V.F.W. at 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove. The junior committee meets at 7 p.m.; the senior group at 8. The next dance will be February 27, 7-11 p.m. Those 14-17 years of age will be admitted and ID's are required.

Diek Bales, dance chairman noted that it is the fifth year for the youth program at the V.F.W. which is growing in popularity. Last month's dance filled the hall to capacity, he reported.

The committee is still seeking individuals and firms who will help sponsor the dances by providing prizes or funds.

"This being our nation's bicentennial year, we are focusing our attention on the present problems of our youth. The V.F.W. program has been most effective in this regard and our sponsors should be given credit for their effort," Bales said.

Mrs. Loretta Ketcherside, R.N., taught the Skyline students mornings and an adult class in Another ROP career van on home appliance repair is due in the Skyline parking lot February 1. To register for classes, contact the East County ROP or Skyline Continuation School.

Typewriter Ad Draws Burglar

Janet Leslie Simmons, a secretary, who lives on Harris st. in Lemon Grove ran an advertisement in the daily newspaper offering several IBM typewriters for sale.

The ad was productive. So many responded that she advised some of them that they could see the equipment only after she returned from a two-week's vacation.

Using her explanation as an invitation to burglary, one respondent visited her home while she was gone and took equipment valued at $1,246.

Missing from the secretary's home were an IBM typewriter, dictaphone, a "Fone Mate" answering device, a cassette recorder and $30 in cash.

Entry was gained by way of a bathroom window.

As some of the Sheriff's deputies have told victims, "It pays to advertise — but do not advertise that you're going on vacation."

Van Picks Two for Air Force Academy

Two Lemon Grove youths are among 30 candidates nominated by Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin for national service academies.

Nominated to the Air Force Academy were Donald L. Kleinhenn, 7147 San Miguel ave., and Stanley T. Mount, 2503 Camino de las Palmas.

San Diego State gets straight A's in energy conservation.

Ever tell your kids to turn off the lights? How'd you like to try it with 35,000 students and hundreds of faculty members in dozens of different buildings?

San Diego State has done just that...and more...to achieve a 20% drop in energy consumption between 1974 and 1975. Despite the addition of a parking structure the size of 12 football fields and a highly energy-intensive Health Services Building.

What's their secret? Reducing pool temperatures from 82° to 78°. Concentrating classes when possible. Reducing lighting by 50%. Redesigning circuits so parking lights are on only when needed and off on weekends. Reducing heat to 68° and raising air conditioning to 78°. Reducing the size of showerheads to save hot water. Disallowing energy-gobbling private heaters and air conditioners. Doing continual energy audits. Installing automatic energy control equipment whenever possible. Cleaning oil filters frequently. Tinting windows to reduce air conditioning needs. And constantly reminding people to conserve.

Scheduled for coming semesters? Reducing hot water temperatures from 140° to 110°. Turning up drinking fountain temperatures. Reducing heat temperatures at night. Studying solar water heating. Even separating recyclable trash, particularly energy-intensive aluminum.

Question? What's the best way to save energy? Answer? All of the above. We think there's a lesson to be learned from San Diego State's success. Because they've put into practice what we've been teaching San Diego businesses and industries for the past five years. State passed Principles of Energy Conservation with flying colors...we'd like to help you do the same.

SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

If San Diego State can do it, so can you. And we're here to help.
